LATEST CROY NOVEL IS OUT

"THEY HAD TO SEE PARIS" IS DECLARED HIS BEST.

HERO FROM OKLAHOMA

An Oil Millionaire in Gay Metropolis Furnish Humor Said to Exceed "Ruggles."

"They Had to See Paris" is the title of the latest—and said to be the best—novel of Homer Croy, author and humorist, who still refers to Maryville as his "home town."

"They Had to See Paris" is another novel with its principal characters drawn from the Midwest, but this time Maryville is not the setting. Instead the town which Croy picks upon is Clearwater, Okla. It is a fictitious name, but the description of the town might fit any one of a score.

The new novel is published by Harper and Brothers and will run as a serial in the Sunday magazine of the Kansas City Star, beginning next Sunday. In its advance announcement, the Star magazine says of the novel:

" 'They Had to See Paris' is a story rivaling the humor of 'Ruggles of Red Gap,' but peopled by characters from real life, not caricatures.

"This Missouri author, whose 'West of the Water Tower' and 'R. F. D. No. 3' have been best sellers among novels for several years, now turns his attention to the oil wealth of Oklahoma for delightful fiction characters in his forthcoming book."

"Pike Peters deserves a prominent place in the gallery of humorous American characters. For Pike is unbelievably funny, and what is more, he is the hero of a rattling good story. To the Pike Peters family in Clearwater, Okla., comes the great urge to see Paris, and as is befitting an oil king and his retinue, the trip is made in the grand manner.

"Mrs. Peters is determined to marry Opal, her daughter, to a title, and her first step is to enter the society in which titles flourish. This is a long step from the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Clearwater, and she engages a guide, philosopher and friend to lead her along the unfamiliar paths.

"The ensuing adventures, as comic as they are costly, keep the family in a constant state of excitement—and the reader in as constant a state of hilarity."

Quilts Are Given to County Farm

A quilt made by the Successful Club, near Skidmore, was left at the Democrat-Forum and Tribune as a gift for Supt. George E. Brown of the county farm. Mr. Brown and his family lost their bedding, together with many other possessions, in the fire which destroyed the county infirmary.

Several other quilts have been donated for the patients at the farm.

Miss Naomi Armstrong and Mrs. Laura Jackson, both of Maryville, each gave a quilt to equip the new beds at the infirmary, and Mrs. Laura Bisco gave a pair of blankets. Mrs. Bisco also made fifty-seven pillows cases from material furnished by the County Court.

CLUB CAMP TO BE AUG. 4, 5, 6

4-H MEMBERS FROM THREE COUNTIES TO ATTEND.

WANT IT IN NODAWAY

T. T. Martin, State Club Leader, Asked to Attend Holachiway Camp—Is Second Annual Affair.

Holateiway Camp, that of the 4-H club of Holt, Atchison and Nodaway Counties will be held on August 4, 5 and 6 this year, it was announced today by J. Ross Fleetwood, county extension agent. Yesterday, Mr. Fleetwood attended a meeting in Mound City with Itschner, county agent of Holt County, and C. W. Davis, agent in Atchison County.

On Saturday, April 3, these three extension agents will meet at the Nodaway County Farm Bureau office in Maryville to decide the location of the camp. The hope is that it will be located in Maryville. Mr. Fleetwood said today that he is on the look-out for a suitable place. It will be necessary to hold the camp in a place where there is plenty of shade, a good stream of drinking water, and a swimming hole.

Any active 4-H club member in any of the three counties will be eligible to attend the camp. As was the case last year, a small fee will be charged each boy or girl attending the camp.

Mr. Fleetwood said today that an invitation has already been extended to T. T. Martin, state club leader, to attend the camp. Local leaders from each of the 4-H clubs represented will also attend the camp.

This will be the second year that there has been a Holatchiway Camp. The first week of last August one was held near Rock Port. Eighty-five club members and fifteen adult leaders attended. The plan is being followed in many counties throughout the state, and it is to be made an annual custom in these three counties.

Misses Margaret Davison and Edith Cramer, Nodaway County health nurses will be asked to attend the camp this year. Miss Davison was in charge of camp health last year.

MERCHANT OF 70'S IS DEAD

J. WOODSON SMITH, KANSAS CITY, TO BE BURIED HERE.

TO MARYVILLE IN 1875

With Brother, C. Q. Smith, He Conducted Drygoods Business for 20 Years.—Prominent Otherwise.

J. Woodson Smith, 81 years old, who was a resident of Maryville for about twenty-seven years, died yesterday afternoon at his home in Kansas City. Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leon Smith in Kansas City and the services were conducted by the Rev. Burris A. Jenkins of that city.

The body will be sent to Maryville and will arrive here at noon tomorrow. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Price Funeral Chapel, to be conducted by the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the First Christian Church of this city. Burial will take place in Oak Hill cemetery.

A Native of Missouri.

Mr. Smith was a native of Missouri, having been born in December, 1844, in Cooper County. He was educated in private schools and entered upon his business career as a salesman for H. S. Mills, a prominent drygoods merchant at Arrow Rock, Saline County, Mo. He remained with Mr. Mills for five years and then engaged in business for himself under the firm name of Smith Bros., for three years.

Maryville was then selected as a more promising point for this firm and in March, 1875, in connection with his brother, C. Q. Smith, he opened a drygoods store at the southwest corner of the square under the firm name of Smith Bros. In 1880 the Smith Block, a three-story brick structure, was erected and in 1895 it was extended to the alley. This building is now known as the Mutz building.

After twenty years in the drygoods business, the firm sold out to Donnell, Frazer and Co.

Mr. Smith was one of the early stockholders in the Hanamo Telephone Co., and the Maryville Electric Light and Power Co., of this city. He was president of the telephone company at its organization and was also president of the light company here for several years. The light company was organized in 1890 and the first power house was erected by the side of the Wabash tracks, and finally, in 1896, the present plant at Fifth and Buchanan streets was built.

Was Twice Married.

Mr. Smith was married to Miss Mary Huston of Marshall, Mo., on Dec. 23, 1869, at Arrow Rock, Mo. She died April 30, 1879, leaving two children, Mrs. George M. Spurlock of York, Neb., and Leon Smith of Kansas City, who died October 31, 1924. Leon Smith was president of the Smith-McCord-Townsend Dry Goods Co., of Kansas City at the time of his death.

In 1886 Mr. Smith married Miss Mamie Ellis of Maryville, a daughter of the late A. T. Ellis, a leading druggist of the city and a representative of one of the pioneer families of Nodaway County. Her death occurred August 26, 1915.

Mr. Smith moved to Kansas City in 1902, and was sometime proprietor of the Woodson Smith Hat Co., of that city. For the last ten years Mr. Smith had been a factory representative for an out-of-town concern in Kansas City and was active in business and drove his own motor car up to a month ago. In earlier years he was active in chamber of commerce activities in Kansas City.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Spurlock, two sisters, Mrs. N. R. Pittman and Mrs. C. V. Ellis, who live at the home of Mrs. Pittman's daughter, Mrs. John B. Pew of Kansas City, and a brother, C. Q. Smith of San Antonio.

Bellows Funeral to Be Held Wednesday

Death of Chicago Publisher Was Without Warning, Says Message From Brother, C. D. Bellows.

Edwin Bellows, well known Chicago publisher, formerly of Maryville, who died Friday at Stuart, Fla., will be buried Wednesday at Chicago, according to a message received in this city by Fred Bellows from his father, C. D. Bellows. The latter, with Mrs. Bellows and their son, Charles, jr. had been spending a vacation at Stuart and were nearly ready to return to Maryville when the tragedy occurred.

According to the message received here, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bellows motored to Stuart Friday morning from their winter home at Jupiter, Fla., and Mr. Bellows at that time appeared perfectly well. "Without warning he fell to the floor and was conscious no more," the message states.

Services were held in Jupiter, after which the funeral party, of which Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bellows and their son were members, left for Chicago. Fred Bellows will attend the services in Chicago, as will a sister, Mrs. James Schack of Seattle, Wash., and a brother, John Bellows, of California. Another sister, Mrs. Will Johnson, of Seattle, will be unable to attend because of illness in her own family.

ASKS RECALL OF HOUGHTON

'HARMFUL TO LEAGUE'

Mississippi Senator Denounces Ambassador As "Unfit as Diplomat" Or "As Dupe."

Washington, March 22.—The recall of Alanson B. Houghton American ambassador to Great Britian was demanded in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, in a speech attacking the Coolidge administration for "throwing a monkey wrench into the machinery of the League of Nations."

Harrison charged that Houghton, in an interview with newspaper men last week, gave out statements declaring that the League's proposed disarmament conference would be a failure because of the "jealousies between the nations," and advised the United States to remain out of the conference.

These statements, published throughout Europe, Harrison said, have hurt American influence abroad and embarrassed the League.

The Mississippi Senator hinted that President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg had given Houghton permission to make the statements. He desired to know whether Mr. Coolidge desired to make the League's disarmament conference fail so that the President could summon his own world parley before the November election.

"If Ambassador Houghton gave out the statements without the consent of the state department, he is unfit as a diplomat and unworthy to be our representative at the high court of St. James," Harrison said. "If he made them with the approval of the state department, he is a dupe and utterly incompetent to be our ambassador to England. In either case, ambassador Houghton should be recalled."

Two Arrested on Bad Check Charge

William Johnson, Near Pattonsburg, Earl Summa of Gentry Under Arrest.

William Johnson was arrested late Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Lowell Campbell at his home near Pattonsburg, Mo., on a bogus check charge. Johnson was brought to Maryville and waived his preliminary hearing this morning before Justice W. L. Johnson. He was bound over to the April term of circuit court under a bond of $500.

Johnson is alleged to have given a check to I. E. Tulloch for $4 on February 13 under the name of William Williams. The check was on the Pattonsburg Savings Bank, which recently closed. Johnson had not given bail this afternoon.

Another bad check charge has been filed against Earl Summa, arrested at Gentry Saturday night by Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell. He is charged with passing a worthless check for $8.50 on Julius Birkenholtz on January 21. The check was drawn on the Bank of Gentry.

TO START ON INQUIRY SPREE

SENATE TO INAUGURATE THREE INVESTIGATIONS

TO HAVE WIDE SCOPE

Prohibition, Tariff and "Big Business" to Be Included in Searchlight Activities to Start This Week

Washington, March 22—With a wary eye toward the November Congressional elections, the Senate, this week, will inaugurate three major investigations, delving deeply into American business, political and social conditions.

Prohibition, the tariff and the New Jersey textile strike will form the basis of the investigations, but the ramifications undoubtedly will reach into every activity of American life.

Under the prohibition and textile inquiries, the home life and social habits of the people will be investigated. Under the tariff and strike inquiries, the business affairs will be probed. The Senate judiciary committee met today to approve the prohibition inquiry. A special Senate tariff committee will meet tomorrow to adopt a program of public hearings, while the manufacturers' committee will meet in a day or two to give its approval to an investigation of the textile strike.

The latter inquiry, proposed by Senator La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, may prove to be the surprise of the Sixty-ninth Congress, due to a provision calling for an investigation of charges of the New Jersey mill-owners that Communists brought about the Passaic strike. Under this authority and at the insistence of Senator Edge, Republican of New Jersey, the investigation may go thoroughly into the subject of communistic propaganda in the United States, and its influence upon American life.

Edge has charged that the Communists were using the Passaic controversy as a mask to preach the overthrow of the American government.

The wet and dry fight will be carried out by a judiciary sub-committee at public hearings on proposals to modify the national prohibition law. There will be no party lines in this battle, but the wets hope to lay the foundation for a national campaign for modification in 1928.

The tariff investigation, meanwhile, will be a strict party affair between the Republicans and Democrats. A significant aspect of this investigation will be the Senate's instructions to learn whether President Coolidge or any other high government official has attempted to influence the decision of the United States tariff commission.

Final Concert Given Yesterday Appreciated

State Teachers College Orchestra Appears With Miss Helen Dvorak as Soloist.

A fair-sized crowd attended the final concert of a series given at the State Teachers College auditorium yesterday afternoon by the College orchestra under the direction of H. O. Hickernell. Miss Helen Dvorak, soloist, played one of the feature numbers of the program in her violin solo, "Concerto, F Sharp Minor" by Vieuxtemps.

Another feature of the program was the next to last number, "In the Clock Store," by Orth. The orchestra responded readily to direction in this number, which was applauded generously.

The concert yesterday was the fourth of a series. Others, given in February and earlier this month, were by the Maryville High School band and orchestra and the College band. Members of the conservatory of music faculty acted as soloists at each concert.

Says Church Biggest Force in Community

Institution Responsible For Well Being Of Citizens, The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass Declares In Sermon.

"Young men have been sent to the penitentiary from your city this last week. For how much of this delinquency are you responsible as members of a Christian church?" R. E. Snodgrass, evangelist, asked at the Jackson Avenue Christian church at Kansas City yesterday.

"I am not doing my duty to the morally bankrupt of this city unless I lend my support to the greatest institution here for the saving of those persons. The church is the greatest moral force in this city or any other."

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22.—Plans for a million kilowat power plant, to be the largest in the world and to be controlled by the Samuel Insull interests, were disclosed here today with the granting of a charter of incorporation to the State Line Generating Co. of Hammond, capitalized at five million dollars.

The new plant, experts said today, is the first step toward realization of the proposal of the late electrical wizard, C. P. Steinmetz, that, eventually, a single great station somewhere in the Middle West, would supply the entire United States with power for lighting, heating and industrial purposes.

Senate Judiciary Committee Orders Public Hearings On Dry Law Modification Proposals.

Washington, March 22—The Congressional Muscle Shoals committee entered actual negotiations for the leasing of the government's 150-million-dollar project today when it met with F. T. Hepburn, a New York construction expert, to discuss the terms under which the property can be leased.

Hepburn was the first individual bidder to be heard by the committee. All other individuals or corporations interested in leasing the Shoals project will be given hearings, however, before any attempt is made finally to negotiate a lease.

Under the instructions from Congress, the terms must be as good or better than those contained in the original Henry Ford offer.

Washington, March 22.—Public hearings on proposals to modify the dry law were ordered today by the Senate judiciary committee. The recommendations of the sub-committee were approved. The inquiry will get under way promptly.

BRITAIN HOPES DIMMER TOO

THINKS DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE FAR DISTANT.

OPPOSE FRENCH PLAN

Paris Foreign Office Denies Report of Differences On Plan For Armament—Has Own Proposal.

London, March 22.—The League of Nations disarmament conference faces a stormy career if it ever comes to fruition, in the opinion of many well-informed observers here.

The Daily Express today publishes an intimation that it believes that even the preliminary disarmament conference, now scheduled to be held on May 18, will not be held. The Paris correspondent of the Daily Express declares that already he has learned that Viscount Cecil and M. Bancour, the French delegates to the League, are at odds over disarmament, and that the United States cannot accept the views of disarmament, which France will insist on before the conference is held.

France is said to be insistent that before any agreement for disarmament is drawn up, it shall be agreed that disarmament by each nation shall be based upon geographical position of the country, its man power, and its ability to produce war material.

In other words, France is anxious that the burden of disarmament be carried by powers other than France.

Many leaders in Great Britain are opposed to any such condition and it is anticipated that the United States will support Britain in opposing the French effort.

Paris, March 22.—All rumors of differences of opinion between Great Britain and the United States on the one side and France on the other are met with denials here by the French foreign office.

The foreign office pointed out that there could be no disagreement at this time since there have been no definite proposals as to a disarmament conference made.

Reports from Washington that Ambassador Houghton rendered an adverse report to President Coolidge on the possibility of a successful disarmament conference, denials from Washington notwithstanding, have caused a considerable amount of excitement in the French press.

This is the third hearing on charges of alleged pardon solicitation. Pollman maintains his case was engineered mainly to test the governor's integrity.

New York, March 22.—Americans will, in time, arrive at that point of education which will bring about the use of liquor in moderation but never through prohibition, according to a statement today by Cardinal O'Connell, primate of American and archbishop of Boston, on his arrival here from a Carribean trip.

Little Girl Knows All About Congress

Aided by Piano, She Demonstrates Workings of Government—Says "Silence" Means White House.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART.
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Washington's a great place to teach a child all about the machinery of government.

It's on exhibition here in actual operation, which makes it realistic and interesting.

I try to make the most of it for my 9-year-old daughter's benefit. I take her around to see how it works. It's pretty vivid to her.

For her age, she's quite a musician. The other evening I got home to find her improvising, at the piano. As she proceeded, she explained the piece to me. Otherwise, I wouldn't have understood it so well.

From the bass end of the instrument came a dignified rumbling—no meaning to it, seemingly, but sonorous. It was prolonged until it grew rather tiresome. "That," observed the child, "is the Senate."

Then ensued a brisk but confused clattering, all up and down the keyboard, occasionally punctuated by sharp whacks, as of a gavel. "House of Representatives." "But those whacks?" "Some gentleman's time has expired," rejoined my daughter.

Now a march—solemn, funereal—borrowed, I suspect, from some earlier composer, though I don't know enough about music to feel certain. At any rate, it was the Supreme Court. That was obvious.

The music ceased. Silence.

"Is that all?" I asked.

"No," said my daughter, "we're at the best part now. This is the White House."

American Savings Greater in 1925

Two Billion More Banked Last Year Than in 1924—This Year to Be Even Better.

Washington, March 22.—The legend of "prodigal America" and "extravagant Americans" received a body blow from the treasury when it was revealed that despite this age of motors, radios and moving pictures, Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen saved 2 billion dollars more in 1925 than in 1924.

Savings bank accounts showed that increase, reaching the record total March 15 of approximatey 25 billion dollars, according to treasury figures. Reduced to percentages, the figures disclose that American thrift increased about 9 per cent for the year.

Savings Income Grows.

These figures indicate the annual income of the American people from savings bank deposits is approximately ¾ billion dollars, an increase of 60 million for the year.

And treasury officials declared another material increase was in prospect for 1926.

The result is that the United States has probably a greater surplus of cash than the rest of the world combined, according to officials.

Greater in Present Year.

Officials declared probably 90 per cent of the funds invested last year went into productive business, promising a greater per dollar income in 1926.

It is pointed out that the government has exerted pressure on American bankers to prevent the outflow of gold and credit except where it will be devoted to productive industry.

Miss Margaret Remus, an instructor in the St. Joseph schools, attended the annual homecoming of Delta Gamma fraternity at Columbia during the week-end.

FLOP.

WILL ATTACK TRAFFIC EVILS

GREAT HIGHWAY CONFERENCES ARE ASSEMBLING.

CONGESTION BLAMED

Accident Prevention To Be Keynote Of Meeting, Which Is Sponsored by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Washington, March 22 (United Press).—A double barrelled assault on traffic evils throughout the nation will be made here this week at Secretary of Commerce Hoover's National Conference on Street and Highway Safety and the convention of the American Automobile Association.

More than 1,000 representatives of the organized motorists and other groups vitally concerned with the difficulties encountered by the 20,000,000 citizens driving automobiles in this country, gathered here today for the meetings.

While accident prevention remains the keynote of the conference, the delegates focused their attention on the major problem of congestion.

Two outstanding causes of traffic confusion across the length and breadth of the continent were found. They were:

1. Lack of uniformity in regulations of the various states and in different cities.
2. Failure of authorities to give proper sympathy to traffic problems and the predicament of the motorist.

A national viewpoint on all motoring problems was to be stressed both at the Hoover conference which will last until Thursday and the AAA gathering, the latter half of the week, dovetailing into the conference on street and highway safety Thursray afternoon.

The centering of attention upon safety on the streets and highways of the nation, reports to the conference show, has resulted in a decline in the proportion accidents involving motor vehicles from the peak year in 1922. The increase that year over 1922 was 20 per cent, while the increase in 1925 over 1924 has been found to be no more than five percent. Considering the addition of 5,000,000 automobiles in this period, the result has been regarded as encouraging.

"Translated into terms of human lives, this means that 6,000 persons are living today who would have lost their lives in street and highway accidents during 1924 and 1925 if traffic fatalities had continued to increase in those years at the same average rate that they increased from 1919 to 1923," Col. A. B. Barber, director of the conference declared.

The most important problem of standardization of motor vehicle codes in the various states and recommendations for uniform traffic regulations in the large cities of the country will be considered at the preliminary conference today when the report of the committee on uniform laws and regulations meets.

The conference will get under way formally tomorrow with an opening address by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who originated the idea two years ago in calling the first such conference which met in December 1924 here in Washington.

The program of the conference this year will revolve around the five definite reports of standing committees on uniform laws, enforcement, causes of accidents, city traffic facilities, and statistics.

The committee on public relations will probably report Thursday, the last day of the conference, when the final recommendations are considered.

Governors of the various states sent delegations to the conference and they will make their reports tomorrow afternoon. These reports will be discussed in the light of suggested uniformity. The experiences of the states where adequate motor laws are enforced will be used as a guide to the formulation of recommendations.

Linvilles Return Home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Linville returned home last night from a two months visit at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ethel Awalt, at Fort Smith, Ark. En route to Maryville they spent a month with their daughters, Mrs. Earl Fisher of Topeka, Kan., and Mrs. Clarence Cook of Kansas City, and their families. Mr. and Mrs. Linville had been gone since Dec. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Withington and daughters moved Saturday to the Bell residence property on South Walnut street.

Former M. U. Head "Discovered" Edison

Columbia, Mo., March 22 (United Press).—A former president of the University of Missouri can claim the credit for the discovery of Thomas A. Edison, according to a letter received here from E. W. Stephens, publisher now in Florida. Stephens' letter says that Edison himself gives the credit for his start in life to Dr. Samuel S. Laws, president of the University in 1876.

Dr. Laws was president of the stock exchange in New York City in 1865, the letter says, and one of the machines for recording of quotations of stock went out of order. Edison at that time was a telegraph operator and spent considerable time in attempting to fix up the machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bain and son, Wilfred, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Aldrich and daughter, Neta, of Elmo spent yesterday in Union Star with Miss Alberta Wilkerson, formerly a teacher in the Elmo schools.

Mr. and Mrs. John Young of Pickering, Mrs. O. C. Barnes and Miss Lucy Young of Hopkins, Harry Nico of Essex, Ia., and Thelma McKee spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Gray of Clearmont.

PERRET AIRS FINANCE PLAN

FRENCH MINISTER WOULD BALANCE BUDGET DEFICIT.

FRANC IS AT LOW EBB

Cabinet Unanimously Approves Project. Hope For Aid From Wealth Of Nation.

Paris, March 22.—Finance Minister Perret this afternoon presented to the finance commission of the Chamber of Deputies his financial project for balancing a budget deficit of 4,534,000,000 francs. The budget proposed that the Deumer taxes, which ware accepted, be permitted to remain in force.

Increases in customs and postal receipts are counted upon to reduce the deficit. Civil taxes proposed are slightly higher than under the former plan.

Paris, March 22.—With the franc at low ebb, France again started its battle for financial stability today.

Finance Minister Perret laid his proposed financial project before the cabinet and it was unanimously approved. The financial project will go to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

The new attempt to balance the budget opens the way for patriotic action by wealthy Frenchmen to come to the aid of their nation. The plan includes voluntary contributions for the amortization of short-time debts.

Perret, undaunted by the failure of his predecessors, favors a 2 per cent sales tax, an increase over the present one.

2 TRIPS FOR 4-H MEMBERS

MISSOURI BOYS AND GIRLS ELIGIBLE FOR AWARDS.

ALL EXPENSES PAID

Pig Club Winner Will Be Sent to Chicago and Calf Club Victor to Detroit.

Two free educational trips, one to Chicago, the other to Detroit, have been offered to Missouri boys and girls who are members of 4-H clubs, according to announcements made today.

The champion club member in the pig club projects will be given a trip to the Fifth National Boys and Girls' Club Congress, to be held in Chicago next December, while the state champion dairy calf club member will be given a trip to the National Dairy Exposition next fall, with every expense paid. The first award is offered by Armour and Company and the second by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

The state dairy calf club champion for Missouri will be chosen by P. T. Martin, state leader in boys and girls club work of the extension department of the College of Agriculture. Orval Wright, Maysville, winner of the 1925 trip offered by the Institute will not be eligible to compete this year.

State dairy calf club champions from Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, and Oklahoma, will also be guests of the Institute at the dairy show.

More than 250 boys and girls from 25 states, most of them state champions in one of the various activities of the Four-H Club work will attend the National Dairy Show. They will compete for national honors with their prize winning dairy calves, in judging of dairy cattle, and in club work demonstrations. A big parade through the arena and a number of pageants by the youthful farmers are listed as new additions to this year's show program.

The agricultural college extension authorities also will determine by pig club winner from the counties scoring highest in enrollment of boys and girls in good standing at the end of the season and doing the highest quality of work applicable to the greatest agricultural needs of the county.

Some 600,000 rural boys and girls between the ages of ten and twenty are now enrolled in this nation-wide 4-H Club movemovement under the supervision of the State Agricultural Colleges, the United States Department of Agriculture co-operating. But there are approximately 11,000,000 rural boys and girls who should be obtaining these advantages to develop themselves educationally, esonomically and socially. Those who are already aware of this opportunity are anxious to further the effort being made in each state to reach the last rural boy and girl with 4-H Club opportunities, and to help each one in the further development of Head, Heart, Hand and Health.

Mrs. F. M. Townsend returned last night from Denver, Colo., where she was the guest of her mother, rs. Hanry Bohm, for several weeks. Mr. Townsend joined her in Kansas City, Saturday, where they spent the week-end.

Judge Frank Armstrong of Plattsburg drove to Maryville Saturday evening for a visit here Sunday. Judge Armstrong is probate judge of Clinton County and is a candidate for re-election. He recently performed his 100th wedding ceremony at Plattsburg.

Mrs. Hamlin Improved.

Mrs. Ed Hamlin, who has been ill at her home, 411 East Sixth street, for about ten days, is much improved today.

Around Our Town

Yesterday morning, while most of Maryville was still abed, spring stole upon our town and captured it without a struggle. Winter, which has occupied the fortifications up until 4:02 o'clock, to be exact, as quietly slipped away, and now another season is upon us.

Spring officialy commenced when the sun crossed the equator on its trip northward and entered the zodiacal sign of Aries, the ram.

Actually the sun does not move among the stars, but they form the background against which we earth dwellers see it, and so as the earth revolves around the sun in its orbit, the sun itself apparently moves among the constellations. To the ancients, who were astrologers more than astronomers, and used the study of the heavens to attempt to predict the future, the star groups among which the sun thus seemed to move had an influence on the people of the earth when it was in them.

Though now astrology is thoroughly discredited as a science, some of the ancient terms still survive, and so the sun is said to enter the sign of Aries when spring commences. It will then be in the same position as it was in the early times when it entered the constellation of Aries, but as a matter of fact, it will be in the constellation of Pisces, the fishes, for the constellations of the zodiac, the narrow path in which the sun seems to move, are slowly changing their positions, returning again to their old positions after an interval of 25,800 years.

This was the second meeting for these two teams in the tourney, Maryville having previously been victorious, 25 to 17.

Westport High School of Kansas City won the tournament by defeating St. Joseph Central in the finals 28 to 7. The St. Joseph team managed to get but one field goal in the game, which was a one-sided tilt. This is the third time in four year that Westport has won the state title. This team will represent Missouri in the National tournament to be held in Chicago beginning March 30.

McKee, Maryville forward, was the only local man to place on either of the all-state teams. He was given a forward position on the second.

Maryville started the consolation finals Saturday night minus the services of Petty, star guard. Gibson worked in his place. The Spoofhounds were on the aggressive in the first quarter, which ended, 5 to 3, in their favor. HILLYARDS IN TITLE VICTORY

DEFEAT K. C. A. C. IN NATIONAL TOURNEY FINALS.

HEWITT A NEW STAR

Kansas City and St. Joseph Capture All Places On All-American Team.

After trying for seven years to annex the National A. A. U. basketball crown, the Hillyards of St. Joseph at last reached their goal in Convention Hall, Kansas City, Saturday night, when they won the final game of the 1926 tournament from the Kansas City Athletic Club, 25 to 20.

A new star rose to glimmer in the basketball constellation, when Hewitt, former Rosendale High School player, and star of several Northwest Missouri tournaments in Maryville, swept into a scoring spree for the Hillyards and won himself a place on the second all-American team.

Endurance played a great part in the game. "Tus" Ackerman, K. C. A. C. center and stellar player, was haggard from the week of play and was far from his best. Many of his teammates were in the same condition. The Hillyards, on the contrary, had conserved their strength, and started the game with a vim. At the end of the first half, the St. Joseph team led, 16 to 6. In the final period they played cautious basketball, much preferring to hold the ball in back court than to drive it down the court as in the first period.

DeBernardi, Hillyard leader for many years, placed on the all-American team at forward, with Ackerman of the K. C. A. C., Wulf, Hillyard center, placed at center, and Starbuck, Hillyards, and Verne Wilkin, K. C. A. C., were given the mythical guard positions.

Following is the second team:

Hewitt, Hillyards, and McLaughlin, Washburn, forwards; Hoffman, Pittsburg, senter; Mosby, Hillyards, and Sanders, K. C. A. C. guards.

The third team follows:

Browning, K. C. A. C., and Loveless, Emporia, forwards; Snider, Goodyear, center; Shaw, Pittsburg, and Clancy, Goodyear, guards.

The Goodyear Rubber team of Akron, O., won third place in the tournament by defeating the Emporia Teachers in the consolation finals, 38 to 23. The Rubber quintet led all the way.

Win But One First in Peru Swimming Meet

Girls From Local State Teachers College Lose To Nebraskans 38 to 21 Score.

Bruckner was the only Maryville entry to take first place in the dual swimming meet held between the Nebraska Teachers College team of Peru, Neb., and seven women from the local State Teachers College, at Peru Friday night. She plunged 46 feet for a greater distance than any entrant.

Maryville was given the relay by default. The local girls also won two second place and four thirds. Dean and Chandler were second place winners, while Dean, Argo, and Gile won thirds, Gile taking two.

The trip to Peru was made in automobiles, Miss Helen Manley, head of the women's physical education department at the College, being in charge.

The score of the meet was 38 to 21.

New Forward Pass Rule Is Major Change in Football Code for 1926

New York, March 22.—Four major changes, affecting the forward pass, the safety, the ground rules and the kick-off or free kick, were made in the football code by the football rules committee Saturday. Hereafter no team can throw more than one incompleted pass in the same series of downs, without suffering a 5-yard penalty. The single pass allowed without penalty will be permitted on the first down only. This was the most drastic of the rule changes effected.

The next most important change was made in the safety rule. Hereafter the ball will be put in play on the 20-yard line, instead of the 30-yard line, but only as a kick. The team in possession of the ball will be given the option of punting, drop kicking or place kicking the ball, with the opposing team "restrained" at a distance of ten yards.

The new rule automatically makes this play an on side kick, making it necessary for the defending side to catch or recover the ball before a player on the kicking side reaches it.

A New Ground Rule.

The change in the ground rules declares any ball "dead" that passes beyond the limits of the playing field, where heretofore this held true only in the case of a ball going into the stands or beyond the fence separating the field from the stands. A fumbled ball over the line, marking the 10-yard zone or beyond, the side lines, belongs to the side whose player last touched the ball within the limits of the playing field. If a blocked kick rolls outside, the ball goes to the blocking side while a fumble that is touched last in the playing field simultaneously by opposing players goes to the team that did not put the ball in play. Punts or passes out of bounds belong automatically to the team that did not put the ball in play.

On a kick-off or a free kick it was decided that no player who steps out of bounds during the play will be eligible to recover the ball.

Pass Up "Pro" Football

The remainder of the alterations, Chairman E. K. Hall of Dartmouth said were confined solely to clarifications and alterations in phrascology. He added that there had been some discussion about changing the rule on the point after touchdown, but that nothing has been done. Neither the plan to add a fifth official to the list nor the invasion of professional football were considered, he said.

"We had definite reasons for making the four major changes," Hall said. "Our new forward pass rule will prevent teams from indiscriminate heaving of the ball, costing them nothing. This way they will be penalized but not drastically. I do not consider the rule very radical.

"As for the safety rule, it was drafted to break up the practice of taking intentional safeties at random by a team in the lead. The intentional safety at a critical moment is a tactical move but it was overdone last year, to the detriment of sportsmanship."

Ford

When You Trade Your Car—

Ford owners are continually being approached by automobile salesmen who wish to "accept" Fords as part payment on more expensive cars.

It is logical that automobile dealers should be eager to trade with Ford owners. No other used car is so easy to sell as a used Ford—because everyone has confidence in Ford quality. And it is not expensive to recondition, since Ford replacement parts are lowest in price.

Most automobiles carry greater discounts to dealers than the Ford—another reason why other dealers may offer the Ford owner a larger trade-in allowance.

But, bear these facts in mind:

The amount of the trade-in allowance you can get is not the most important thing for you to consider. The big thing is the difference you have to pay. And remember, that the higher priced car will not be so easy to dispose of when you come to trade it in.

If you wish to trade your Ford for a new automobile, stick to the car that you know to be dependable, useful and economical. Go to your Ford dealer!

He will give you a fair and liberal allowance for your present Ford and will gladly arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

"22 YEARS OF LEADERSHIP AND STILL LEADING IN PRICE—DESIGN—QUALITY"

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Springfield where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Springfield and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. She breaks her engagement and writes Jimmy a letter, explaining, but the office boy forgets to mail it.

Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga saying she has found Jensen. He rushes to her apartment to find her gone. Her disappearance becomes a newspaper sensation. O'Day then tells Jimmy that he found a picture of Henry Rand in Olga's apartment.

Barry Colvin tells Jimmy that Mary Lowell has broken with Sam Church. They are walking along the street. They see Mary Lowell approaching. Just as Jimmy is raising his hat he spies a familiar figure running for a street car. He wheels suddenly and runs like a mad man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI.

The smile died on Mary Lowell's mouth. She bit her lip and stared, uncomprehending, at Jimmy's vanishing form.

Barry Colvin, his hat in his hand, called crazily, "Jim! Oh, Jim!" He mumbled words vaguely at Mary, not realizing she was not near enough to hear: "He's crazy. I'll catch him—see what's the matter with him."

But Jimmy was not crazy. He had recognized, in the man who was boarding the street car, none other than Kid Divis.

There was no time for explanations. Everything else could wait—would have to wait.

"I'll not let him get away this time," he snarled.

He swung aboard the car, just as the conductor was closing the door. He glanced swiftly about him, his head lowered, his eyes peering. . . . He thought: "I mustn't take any chance of being recognized."

Divis had moved up in the car. Jimmy saw a newspaper lying on the rear platform. He picked it up, slid into the seat nearest the conductor, from where he could observe Divis' back and shielded his face with the paper.

He wondered what he would do—what his plan of action would be—if Divis should see him and leave the car.

"Grab him, that's all," he told himself, and sat, hoping that there would be no such action needed.

It wasn't Divis he wanted, he told himself. It was Jensen. Divis, if arrested, would only lie again about Jensen's whereabouts. Perhaps he was going to see Jensen now. . . . .

Once Divis glanced nervously toward the rear of the car. Jimmy, his face exposed, shifted the paper quickly in front of his eyes, striving for an outward show of nonchalance that he did not feel.

But Divis had not seen him—or, at least, had not recognized him—for he turned slowly around again and stared out of the car window.

The car rolled on—block after block. Passengers left at nearly every stop, and now a new fear struck Jimmy—that if they rode much further he and Divis would be alone on the car, in which event he knew, he must be recognized.

Minutes passed—to Jimmy, nervous, apprehensive, they seemed like hours.

The car, with fewer stops to make, rushed along at swaying, dizzy speed.

Jimmy, still behind his newspaper, saw the passengers gradually thin out, until there were only three remaining besides himself and Divis.

"Good night!" he said to himself. "Is this man going to the end of the line?"

Another passenger left. The car moved on.

Divis had risen from his seat, was walking down the aisle toward the rear platform. Jimmy saw that Divis would pass him.

He thought, "I can't follow him out. What can I do? If I trail after him, he's bound to recognize me."

Struck with a sudden inspiration, he closed his eyes and gently tilted his head back, letting the paper fall against his face and completely hiding it from Divis' view. The other two passengers preceded Divis out of the car. Divis, with an amused glance at the sleeper in the rear seat, swung down off the step.

Hey, in there, end of the line," yelled the conductor. He gave Jimmy a none too gentle push. "Want off here?"

"Huh?" Jimmy was acting for the benefit of Divis. If he were still within earshot, he thought, his ruse might work. He said in a voice disguised and husky, "Hell, I rode past my stop. I'll stay on an' ride back."

A fog had been gathering. It was thick, for which he thanked his lucky stars, but he could see Divis as he rounded the front end of the car and crossed the tracks.

"Wait a minute," cried Jimmy, checking him. "I've changed my mind. Let me off here. Just thought of a man I wanted to see that lives out here."

"Your friend might as well live at the north pole as out here," observed the conductor. His humor was none too good. He opened the door with a bang and let Jimmy out.

The fog had closed so densely that Divis' rapidly walking figure was an indistinguishable blur up the street.

Jimmy saw that he was in a sparsely settled district. Houses—those that could be seen in the foggy murk—were few and far between. . . . No paved streets. . . . cinder paths instead of sidewalks.

Ahead of him, just barely discernible, was Divis, still walking. Then, keeping a safe distance between them, Jimmy followed the dim figure up the street.

If the car ride had seemed to Jimmy to last for hours, the walk seemed like ages. Stretches between houses grew longer and longer.

The damp air was raw. He shivered, and buttoned his overcoat tightly around his throat. But he was cold not alone from the chill atmosphere but from his surroundings. . . . To be trailing Divis down this lonely path. . . . . What was to be the outcome?

He walked noiselessly, on rubber heels, but unconsciously he lengthened his stride. A minute or two later he checked himself, seeing that the distance between him and the man he was following had narrowed. . . . . He was afraid that Divis might suddenly turn around and wait. . . . . Then what? He felt sure that Divis was armed. . . .

Barry Colvin had told him that Mary had broken off with Sam Church. He revolved it in his mind and found the thought pleasant. . . .

But Mary had said she had written him a letter. What could have happened to it? . . . . And Barry said she still cared for him. . . . . He felt singularly uplifted—and then he came down to earth again.

He shook his head, muttered: "Must keep my mind on what I'm doing. That can all wait. . . . Wonder where in the devil this Divis is going. He's taking me way out in the country."

The disconcerting thought struck him that perhaps Divis might have recognized him, after all, and was merely leading him on . . . . to some trap.

He said, trying to allay that sudden fear: "That's a crazy idea. Mustn't lose my nerve. This fellow would be scareder than I am if he knew I was following him."

And still Divis walked on.

The fog grew thicker. Jimmy allowed himself to approach a great deal nearer. Once Divis stopped, and Jimmy had a horrifying moment. He dropped suddenly to the ground, flattened himself out on the cinder path.

But Divis did not turn around. He had only stopped to shift a bundle from one arm to the other. . . . . Jimmy noted with relief that he was striking out ahead once more.

Along a parallel street a block away Jimmy could see dimly an automobile shooting along at a furious rate and bumping crazily over the uneven road. He wondered what mission its passenger or passengers could be on to warrant such reckless speed.

Divis observed the auto, too. The roar of the motor seemed strangely far away in the fog, although only a short block separated them. Jimmy saw Divis stop again, his head moving slowly as he followed the car with his eyes.

Jimmy thought: "Wonder what Mary thought, seeing me run away like that? Looked as if I was trying to avoid her. . . . . Must clear that up soon's I get back. . . . . Wonder what Barry thought? . . . . Gool old Barry. Wish he were here."

He felt the need of someone near him. . . . . Not help, so much, as companionship. He debated briefly on the advisability of entering one of the houses that he passed so infrequently, explaining his plight and asking for someone to come with him—with a gun.

But he put the thought aside. "Might lose him," he said. "Only thing to do's to stick to him to see where he's going. Thousand dollars to one now he's going to see Jensen. Maybe they've got Olga. . . . . God, what a lonely place! Hide anybody here. Nobody within hailing distance all day long."

Again Divis stopped and again Jimmy flattened himself on the ground, but again it was only to shift a bundle."

"Must be heavy," Jimmy said. "Wonder what's in it? Lord, if only somebody were here—Barry, O'Day, anybody."

Straight ahead, and some distance back from the street, a light glowed dimly. As he drew nearer, Jimmy could see that it came from the basement of a house whose outlines he could barely make out in the screen-like fog.

There was no glint to the light, as there had been to those in some of the houses he had passed. Jimmy concluded it must be shining from behind a drawn shade.

And then he saw his man turn sharply to the left. Dropping down to the ground once more, he saw Divis, head still straight ahead, walk toward the house with the dim light.

Growing a little bolder, he got to his feet and trotted, sure that he was unobserved.

It was a long walk from the cinder path to the front door of the house—and interminably long walk, he thought as he watched Divis.

Then he saw Divis descend the steps that led to the basement entrance. He was out of sight now, but Jimmy, listening intently, heard two distinct raps on the door.

Silence followed.

Then cautiously, his heart pounding a thunderous tattoo against his ribs, he slowly made his way up the walk to the house.

What lay ahead?

Fruit Exports During 1925 Show An Increase

Washington, March 22.—An increase of nearly a million dollars in the value of American fruit exports in 1925 over the previous year has been announced by the commerce department.

Approximately one-half the total value of $42,220,592 of fresh fruits shipped to other countries was in apples, the department said.

Florida produced most of the $1,505,579 worth of grapefruit exported.

Spain has increased its exports to the United States, the 1926 records show despite the embargo on grape shipments.

Such articles as shelled almonds and other nuts, onions and olives shipped to the United States helped bring the total imports from Spain to a new high record since 1920 with a value of $34,648,760.

Gasoline and Potatoes

Since 1913 the price of potatoes has increased enormously, while the price of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gasoline has increased but slightly. This statement is confirmed by authentic statistics.

The United States Department of Labor gives the average retail price of potatoes in Chicago on November 15, 1913, as $.017 per pound or $1.02 per bushel.

The tank wagon price of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gasoline in Chicago on the same day was $.145 per gallon.

From these figures we find that a bushel of potatoes in 1913 purchased a trifle more than 7 gallons of gasoline.

Twelve years later, on November 15, 1925, the average retail price of potatoes in Chicago was $.05 per pound, or $3.00 per bushel.

As the Chicago tank wagon price of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gasoline, on the same day, was $.16 per gallon, we find that, on that day, one bushel of potatoes purchased 18¾ gallons of gasoline, or 11¾ gallons more in 1925 than in 1913.

Stating it another way, potatoes advanced in price 194% during the last twelve years, while the price of gasoline advanced only 10.3%.

This record is the more remarkable when it is considered that, in 1913, there were 194 barrels of crude oil produced per registered car, while, in 1925, production had shrunk to only 38 barrels of crude per registered car.

To balance such a spectacular growth of demand against such a startling decrease in supply, without greatly increased cost to consumers, would seem totally impossible and against all economic law.

Yet that is precisely the achievement that stands to the credit of the oil industry and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in particular.

It was accomplished by doubling the yield of gasoline from crude by means of advanced refining processes, discovered and developed in the research laboratories of the Standard OilCompany (Indiana).

These processes were leased in turn to competitive refineries, that they also might help to make the available crude meet the demand. In this way the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) passed on the benefit of its tremendous investment in research to the entire consuming public in the form of continued low gasoline prices.

The problems of the oil industry are as great today as they have been in the past.

The demand for gasoline continues to increase. The supply of crude per car continues to decrease. What is to be done?

Questions like this the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) must answer. It will be aided in answering them by the experience of years, by friendly co-operation within and without the organization, and by the faith that high ideals backed by earnest effort must win.

Missouri Legion in Membership Drive

Quota of 29,950 Members Now 18.56 Per Cent Attained In National Campaign.

Kansas City, Mo., March 22.—Missouri Department of The American Legion, with a quota of 29,950 members, is forging ahead in a nation-wide campaign to make 1926 the greatest membership year in the history of the organization nationally, according to a bulletin received here today from national headquarters.

This department had attained 18.56 per cent of its quota according to membership returns on the books of the national treasurer on March 15. In accordance with the national membership program, the department quotas for 1926 were set considerably in excess of their 1925 total membership figure.

Florida was the first department to surpass its quota, giving "over the top" in quota on March 11.

The fifteen leading departments in percentage of quota raised by March 15 were: Florida, 100.86; Wyoming, 93.21; Idaho, 86.07; Oklahoma, 79.00; West Virginia, 69.43; Kansas, 65.73; Minnesota, 64.26; Oregon, 63.80; Maine, 61.34; Arizona, 60.21; North Dakota, 59.88; Illinois, 57.44; Vermont, 56.89; South Dakota, 56.43; New Hampshire, 54.36.

In the pre-March membership activity three Legion departments, Idaho, West Virginia and Florida, surpassed their 1925 membership before March 1, 1926. Three departments "over the top" before March 1 is an unprecedented record in the Legion.

National membership contests already finished and now under way will play a big part in making 1926 the record membership year, Legion officials declare. The D'Olier, MacNider and Emery Contests, ending thirty days prior to the national convention in October, are inspiring departments to greater membership efforts.

The D'Olier contest will be won by the department enrolling the highest percentage of its eligible veterans. The MacNider trophy will go to the department attaining the highest percentage of its preceeding year's membership. The Emery cup will be awarded to the department having the highest percentage of its average membership for the four preceding years.

Trenton—The township of Trenton will reduce its bonded indebtedness to $99,000 by paying off $8,000 in bonds April 15.

Potosi—A Company sinking a shaft between Ironton and Fredericktown has reported finding a valuable vein of tungsten.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, March 22.—Grain prices closed sharply lower on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Wheat closed decidedly lower in all deliveries. The market was quiet until late in the session when a selling wave set in which sent prices from 3 to 3½ cents below Saturday's close. A new low was established in the May for the present movement. The bears predictions were strengthened by the reports of excellent winter wheat progress throughout the country. Although there was a report in the Chicago pit to the effect that the visible wheat supply was materially decreased, bullish news was ignored generally.

Corn closed lower all along the line. The trade was light and the market weak in all deliveries.

Oats closed fractionally lower in all deliveries. The market was exceedingly dull.

Provisions closed 8 to 10 cents off in a quiet market.

Says Hard Work Best Aid to Good Health

Capt. Robert Dollar, "Grand Old Man" Of Pacific Coast Shipping, Gives His Prescription.

"Work never killed anyone," he said. "I may live to be a hundred if I keep on working and don't permit the rust of retirement to kill me off."

No Change Seen in Wet and Dry Poll

Wets Continue to Pile Up Majorities in Large Cities, While Smaller Towns Favor Prohibition.

Copyright, 1926, by NEA Service, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part is prohibited.

By NEA Service.

Cleveland, O., March 22.—As the total number of votes cast in the greatest newspaper referendum in history climbed to 1,622,089 today, a tabulation disclosed no new trend in the voting. The total to date is divided as follows:

For Prohibition	306,171
For Repeal	512,316
For Modification	803,602

The drys lost one of the three states in which they had established majorities, North Carolina swinging over into the wet column under the impetus of a heavy wet vote from Durham. The drys still have a plurality in that state, however, and additional votes may re-establish their majority. The two states in which they retain their majorities are Kansas and South Carolina.

As more complete returns come in from Massachusetts that state settles more and more snugly into the wet column, Boston, Lynn and Worcester contributing heavily to the anti-prohibition total. Texas continues to increase its dry column, with a bare possibility that the drys will eventually gain a majority.

Kentucky and West Virginia are maintaining their dry pluralities, but the day's developments say the drys losing slightly in Michigan, California and Connecticut. New York and Ohio again tossed new wet votes into the heap, although the smaller Ohio towns are beginning to contribute more imposing prohibition totals.

Figures from the Portsmouth (Va.) Star show men are voting eight to one against prohibition; married women have a lead of only three wet votes in a total of 193, while single women are voting wet by a margain of two to one.

The latest Missouri returns follow:

Former Conception Priest Dies Abroad

Services Are Held At St. Joseph Church In Memory Of Abbott Ignatius Conrad.

Special services were conducted at St. Joseph's Cathedral at St. Joseph Saturday morning for Abbot Ignatius Conrad, a Benedictine prelate, who for twenty years—1870 to 1890—was pastor of the Cathedral. The aged prelate died last Saturday at Einsedelein, Switzerland, following a stroke suffered while on his way from his monastery in Subiaco, Ark., to Rome to attend a conference of Benedictine abbots.

Father Ignatius, in his younger days, was attached to the abbey at Conception, Mo., and was lent to the diocese of St. Joseph. He was widely known and popular. Brothers who were in the Benedictine order, and who are now dead, were Abbot Frowin Conrad of Conception, Mo.; the Rev. John Conrad of St. Joseph, while another brother, the Rev. Pius Conrad, has a parish in central Missouri.

The service at St. Joseph today was conducted by the Rev. C. F. Buddy, rector of the Cathedral, with the Rev. Leo Ruggles, the Rev. Theodore Cheun and the Rev. Father Bernadine, a Passionist priest of Des Moines assisting.
